

Berlin Comes To Sydney In A Gallery Swap

The perennial mecca of all things cool, Berlin, will be represented by a collective of artists from the Galerie Patrick Ebensperger as they exhibit at Dominik Mersch Gallery – part of a cross-continental gallery swap.

With work from the likes of David Moises, Philip Grozinger, Kei Takemura and Hajnal Nemeth, the show promises to be a blend of mechanical analysis, dark and strange places, tentative embroidery and work derived from experimental opera.

The collection will be showing from Friday July 11 - Saturday August 16. The opening, on Thursday July 10, will also be an opportunity to see off the artists that Dominik Mersch Gallery is sending to represent the best of Australian contemporary art in Berlin.
